Justin Brenden, Chief Actuary, SiriusPoint

Justin currently serves as Group Chief Actuary of SiriusPoint and has served in that position since 2021. Prior to that, Justin served as Executive Vice President at Third Point Re, having joined that company during its first year of operations in 2012. Before joining Third Point Re, he was an actuarial consultant at EY where he provided services to reinsurance and insurance companies around the world. As part of his roles at SiriusPoint, Third Point Re, and EY, Justin has extensive experience completing and managing run-off transactions. He served as the transaction lead on SiriusPoint's two most recent loss portfolio transfers and has been deeply involved in each stage of the legacy transaction lifecycle. Mr. Brenden also currently serves on the Board of Pie Insurance and previously served on the Board of the Casualty Actuarial Society. He earned a BBA degree with a triple major in actuarial science, risk management, and finance from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 2005 and an MBA from Imperial College London in 2024. He holds the credentials of Fellow of the Casualty Actuarial Society (US), Fellow of the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries (UK), Member of the American Academy of Actuaries, and Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter.
